DISASTER RESPONSE & MANAGEMENT SERVICES

Matrix responds.

Our staff at Matrix New World Engineering (Matrix) has been involved in Disaster Response and Management activities during 9/11, Hurricanes Katrina, Rita, Gustov, Ike, and Isaac, the MC252 Deepwater Horizon Gulf Oil Spill and Superstorm Sandy. We are on-the-job proven engineers, geologists, and environmental specialists involved in response services, damage assessments, and infrastructure recovery.

We can also help with the Disaster Assistance Programs administered through FEMA and US EPA, including FEMA Appeals. We are already assisting clients and teaming partners with the Superstorm Sandy response and cleanup efforts.

Some of the general response services Matrix offers include spill response (SCAT, NRDA, biological monitoring, wildlife capture and rehabilitation, and logistics), damage assessments, GPS data collection/GIS analysis, HAZMAT surveys and removal, asbestos and lead based paint certified inspectors & remediation specialists, O&M program development, environmental evaluations, indoor air sampling (i.e., mold/vapors), UST/AST inspections and removal, natural resource evaluations, 40 hour OSHA and TWIC trained personnel, civil and marine engineering design services, safety and compliance oversight, waste management (sampling, characterization handling, and prioritization).

In addition, we offer technical assistance, engineering inspections, health and safety, land surveying, telecommunication evaluations, emergency debris, monitoring removal and transportation contracting, communications and information resources for local officials, residents and businesses, emergency repairs, water and wastewater repair, replacement, or restoration, demolition, dewatering and water treatment, water sampling and analytical testing (potable or surface waters), construction inspection and management.
